

Green Cleaning 101:

Which Essential Oils Will Clean Your Home The Best?

Tea Tree Oil

This essential oil is excellent for your bathrooms! It can remove mildew, scare away bugs, and eliminate musty odors. In a few words, it's antibacterial, antimicrobial, antifungal, and antiviral.

Lemon Oil

You've probably heard some cleaning hacks involving lemon juice, but the essential oil is even better! It's antiviral and antibacterial, removes sticky residue, and leaves a fresh scent behind.

Cinnamon Oil

Cinnamon oil will give your home a welcoming smell! On top of working as a deodorizer, this oil is antibacterial and antiseptic, so it helps eliminate mold, mildew, and fungi.

Peppermint Oil

On top of having antibacterial and antifungal qualities, peppermint oil can repel pests like mice or rats! You can mix it with other essential oils to make excellent cleaners.

Eucalyptus Oil

If someone in your household suffers from allergies, eucalyptus oil is the best option! This oil also has antiseptic and antimicrobial properties that will enhance your cleaning.

Lavender Oil

Lavender oil is very popular for its relaxing qualities, but that's not all! This oil is also used for cleaning and disinfecting due to its antibacterial qualities and fresh scent.
